April 2015

Greetings!

Carlsbad Inn is readying for the Spring and Summer crowds by implementing the use of wristbands. With all this great weather we expect a lot of activity around the resort. Please check out a few of the family-focused springtime staples that are back on the Activities

Calendar: ping pong, lawn games, Pockets the Clown, Wii bowling competitions and the popular San Diego Tour.

During your next visit, take the time to check out all the new and interesting murals around the Village. All murals are in walking distance and will not only give you a chance to see the new happenings around the area, it will take you on a visual journey of the Village's rich culture and artistic talent as told by five local artists. Many of the murals are part of the Mural Project funded through Carlsbad Foundation. From large, playful pieces seen from the center of the Village, to hidden works adorning alley walls, the mural tour will tell the tales behind the art, including the people, places and artists themselves. You will see the newest mural, "The Robot" by local artist Jason Markow at the corner of State Street and Carlsbad Village Drive. The tour also includes Michael Summers' "Cat Nap," which covers one entire side of Witch Creek Winery. For more detail and a tour map go to <http://www.carlsbad-village.com>.

We are happy to report the third fire pit construction is complete. The fire pits are such a popular addition to the resort that the decision to add another one was easy. Many Owners and Guests comment on the space and how fun it is to meet new people around the fire pits. Now you are able to enjoy the additional circular seating and another place to socialize.

Projects in the Oak Building continue with the sliding glass door and window replacement almost complete and exterior paint to follow. A few weather damaged columns and support beams have been identified for the Wood Replacement project and work to replace those areas will be on-going over the next several months.

Best regards,
