January 2015

Hello Red Wolf Lodge at Squaw Valley Owners,

We Had a White Christmas!

The beginning of November was full of action although a little noisy for about 10 days. Squaw Valley Resort used a Chinook helicopter to remove 5,000 dead and dying trees as well as those recently cut down. The trees were removed from the area in and around Red Dog and dropped in the middle of the parking lot where they were processed. The tree removal was done primarily to open up the area for increased tree skiing.

The work was done just in time for the snow that arrived in Squaw Valley, enabling skiing to open on November 26 for the Thanksgiving weekend. For those Owners and Guests who did not want to cook for Thanksgiving, High Camp offered a buffet style dinner, which we were told was better than the turkey dinner at The Ritz at Northstar! As of December 20th, snow accumulation was 101 inches above 8,000 with more on the way.

The team did a great job decorating for the holiday season. There were Christmas trees in both the lobby and clubhouse along with lights, wreaths, garland, etc. Holiday activities were added to the weekly schedule and included such things as making turkey cookies made of Oreo's, Reese's peanut butter cups, Whoppers and Candy Corn, chocolate covered marshmallow reindeer, marshmallow snowmen on a stick and candy cane / pretzel stick chocolates to name a few.

Wishing you a Happy New Year

The festivities in The Village and at Squaw Valley have picked up with the first of the year! There is again a great deal to do throughout the week including live music, tasting notes at the Plaza Bar, Winemaker events and Ladies Night at Uncorked, trivia and bingo nights at the Ald Dubliner, the Aspenglow winter film series, and Snowfest opening ceremonies and fireworks. There will also be the Burton ride and Yoga social in February and the International Cross Cup and High Camp pool party in March so mark your calendars and come join us soon.

Proposed Expansion of the Village at Squaw Valley

Your Board of Directors and Management encourages you to learn about the proposed development of approximately 100 acres of land within Squaw Valley, owned by Squaw Valley Holdings (previously know as KSL). You can learn more about the proposed project at www.squawrenaissance.com and by viewing the model which is located at Basecamp in Squaw Valley Village. By now, you will have received a survey from Red Wolf Squaw Valley seeking your views about various aspects of the proposed project. Your opinions matter! We will provide a summary of feedback to both the developer and officials from Placer County reviewing the project.

Please be sure to let us know your thoughts! Thank you for another year of support and we hope to see you in 2015.

Sincerely,

Greg Veal
General Manager
